

AMUSEMENTS.

Miss Alberta Gallatin, who will appear at the opera house for matinee this afternoon and to-night.

LAST NIGHT'S PLAY.

The appearance of Miss Alberta Gallatin in the English comedy, "A Clean Slate," at the opera house last night, proved a very pleasant renewal of acquaintanceship between that captivating actress and a Pensacola audience.

Miss Gallatin was seen here a year ago in "Ghosts," at which time she was the subject of very complimentary comment. This time, her appearance in a play of an altogether different character, has made even a better impression than did her former visit here.

"A Clean Slate" is a very pleasing play, although not an exceptionally strong one. It is a light comedy and it drags at times—but never when Miss Gallatin herself is on the stage. She furnishes the greater part of the life there is in it and she does so with an ease, a naturalness, and a contagious good spirit that few people possess and fewer still can resist. Miss Gallatin is, in short, a clever actress whose infectious spirit pervades the audience the minute she appears on the stage, and it holds complete control until the last curtain is rung down.

Miss Gallatin will present "A Clean Slate" at the matinee this afternoon and again at the regular hour to-night.

OF DISTINGUISHED FAMILY.

Probably no actress has ever yet appeared upon the Pensacola stage who is a descendant of a more noted Southern family than Miss Alberta Gallatin. Her father was Brigadier General Albert Gallatin Jenkins, who served with distinction throughout the civil war, being promoted to the rank of brigadier general before the close of the war. He also bore the distinction of being the youngest member of congress, being elected to this high office when twenty-four years of age, but did not take his seat until he reached his twenty-fifth year. He resigned to enter the Confederate army.

Miss Gallatin is also a cousin of Admiral Jenkins, of the United States navy, who died several years since in Washington, and who was one of the most distinguished officers serving during his time.

The accomplished young lady, who was born in Virginia, talked interestingly of her life to a Journal reporter last night at Hotel Escambia.

"I very much appreciated the beautiful bouquet presented me to-night by the Daughters of the Confederacy," said she. "I am a member of that organization, being a charter member of Hope Maurey Chapter, of Norfolk, and also an honorary member of a large number of other chapters. The floral tribute was sent to me during the play and was gladly received. I have been on the stage for about fourteen years, and during this time the Daughters of the Confederacy have acted very nicely towards me. I began my stage career with Booth and Barrett, and was later with Joe Jefferson, Richard Mansfield, Mrs. Friske, Frohman's Lyceum Company and other companies of this class.

"I adopted the stage name of Alberta Gallatin on account of my family, and also for the fact that my real name is Alberta Gallatin Jenkins, the latter name being excluded on the stage.

"You have a beautiful city and your bay is simply magnificent," concluded the artist.

HARRIS-PARKINSON STOCK CO.

The great favorite, the Harris-Parkinson Stock Company, will play a return engagement in this city, commencing Monday night. Of the opening bill, the Mobile Register of the 24th ult., has this to say:

"The Harris-Parkinson Stock Company held the boards at the Mobile Theatre yesterday matinee and last night. 'Friends' was the matinee bill and was given in an acceptable manner. The audience at the matinee performance was not as large as the company deserved, but the night attraction, 'Count de Monte Cristo,' drew a very large and appreciative audience. This well known play was put on with appropriate scenery and costumes and far exceeded all efforts of other repertoire companies which have endeavored to stage and produce it here. Mr. Robert H. Harris as 'Count de Monte Cristo,' has cause to be proud of his efforts last night. He was supported by the full cast. The applause was liberal throughout the performance.

"The specialties, all new and up-to-date, were alone well worth the admission price. The Phelps Duo produced a song and dance turn yesterday matinee and last night which was both novel and pleasing. This act is entitled 'The Enchanted Melon,' and was liberally enjoyed.

"On several occasions of late, repertoire companies have been advertising plays which they did not have, and changed the bill without notice to the audiences present. This company cannot be charged with this offense, for it is giving a first-class drama at each performance and the one it advertises, too. They are deserving of good patronage at their matinee this afternoon, when a new bill will be presented by them. The bill for tonight is 'Rip Van Winkle,' and will be given with full and realistic scenery and costumes. This will close the company's engagement this season."

FINE WORK DUE MORE TO LACK OF FEELING THAN TO BRAVERY.

By Associated Press.
Portland, Oregon, March 31.—M. Vershinin, former civil governor of Port Arthur, who is en route to Russia, speaks in the highest terms of Japanese soldiers. He does not, however, attribute the indomitable perseverance in battle so much to bravery as to lack of feeling. He cited as an illustration that in battle the Japanese repeatedly charged over thousands of bodies of their dead comrades and witnessed the death of relatives and friends without apparently losing nerve in the slightest degree. This, M. Vershinin says, is an impossibility for any European race.

M. Vershinin recounted the experiences of the Russian garrison at Port Arthur during the siege where for four months an increasing bombardment, both day and night, wore those in port Arthur almost to distraction. He remarked the horrible precision of the Japanese artillery, saying that the Japanese seemed familiar with every part of the fortress and placed shells wherever they seemed to desire with the most terrible effect.
